Rotary's Promise...

In 1985, Rotary promised every child a world free from the threat of polio. Since then, the number of countries that continue to be polio endemic has declined from over 125 to just four -- Pakistan, Afghanistan, India and Nigeria. However, since 2003 polio virus outbreaks have spread to 27 previously polio-free countries. Thankfully, most outbreaks have been stopped. But the fact remains, so long as polio virus exists any place in the world, it is a threat to every nation in the world. In a global economy, polio is only a plane ride away. Thank you for seeing the urgency of our campaign, and your generous gift. Thank you, too, for sharing our promise with your friends and family -- We can and will succeed! We will wipe Polio off the face of the earth! We can and will do that with your help and the help of thousands of friends of Rotarians.

The 1.2 million Rotarians world wide are united in the grand aspiration of eradicating the crippling disease of polio from the face of the earth. Bill Gates, the founder of Microsoft, shares our passion and our vision. The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation has given Rotary $355-million to finish the job. Clubs around the world are now working hard to raise a second $100-million match that Rotary promised the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.
